

Prefix Verbs: The Impact of Preposition-like Elements on the Syntax and Semantics of Verbs

University of Stuttgart (Campus Stadtmitte, Keplerstr. 11 [= K1], room 11.32)

July 13-14, 2012

FRIDAY

SATURDAY

Hans Kamp Welcome session	08:45 - 09:00
Jaume Mateu Strong and weak P-verb constructions	09:00 - 10:00	Gillian Ramchand On the Categories V and P: Anatomy of a Love Affair
Julia Adler How a directional particle gives rise to possessive semantics	10:10 - 10:50	Berit Gehrke & Marika Lekakou In the absence of P
Coffee (20“)	10:50 - 11:10	Coffee (20“)
Stefano Quaglia On the difference between Italian and Germanic spatial particles	11:10 - 11:50	Marina Pantcheva Deriving doubling, non-doubling, and argument-changing prefixes
Andrew McIntyre Particle incorporation in English double object constructions, nominalisations and elsewhere	12:00 - 13:00	Peter Svenonius Structural and featural distinctions between Germanic and Slavic prefixes
Lunch	13:00 - 14:30	Lunch
Indaiá Da Santana Bassani Parasyntetic Prefix Verbs of BR Portuguese: evidence for locality effects in morphosyntactic structure	14:30 - 15:10	Inna Tolskaya Verbal prefixes in Russian: conceptual structure versus syntax
Thomas McFadden The syntax of preverbal ge- in Old English	15:20 - 16:00	Juan Romeu Verbal Prefixes are not Ps
Coffee (30“)	16:00 - 16:30	Coffee (30“)
Marcel Den Dikken Preposition doubling in Flemish and its implications for the syntax of Dutch PPs	16:30 - 17:30	Joost Zwarts The “space” of P
Dinner @ Mezzogiorno	20:00	